Themes:

- What are the important aspects that we must consider as we implement an English curriculum that is deep, rich and engaging for young learners?
- How can we provide a thematically-based (not topically-based) curriculum that is at a minimum intrinsically interesting, but that also strives to incorporate elements that are cognitively engaging and culturally connected?
- What are some of the practical ways to deepen activities in the teaching of English so that they have maximum impact on the learner?
